Understanding Student Orientation Requirements

Our team has designed a suite of orientation sessions aimed at helping you get ready to make the most of your graduate school experience at Northeastern University in Silicon Valley. All students are required to complete the orientations that pertain to them. These sessions are delivered in a mix of online and in-person and are designed to help you learn about the campus, university resources, and other pertinent information.

- Online Canvas course, including Master's and Professional Doctorate Orientation (for all students): Opens this summer
- Campus Orientation (for all students): September 8, 2026
- College Orientation (for your specific program): TBA
- International Student Orientation (for international students on an F1 visa): TBA

You will receive information about orientation to your Northeastern student email; you can find information below about setting up your account.

U.S. visa holders who are studying on a visa classification other than F-1 are not required to attend the international student orientation; but you are required to complete a form to confirm your visa documentation with the Office of Global Services (OGS), linked here (https://international.northeastern.edu/ogs/forms-and-guides/data-form-for-non-nu-visa-sponsored-new-students/). Please contact the OGS inbox for this campus at ogssfsv@northeastern.edu (mailto:ogssfsv@northeastern.edu) with any questions.
