Students Studying in The United States

TRANSFERRING OUT

F-1 and J-1 students may be eligible to transfer their SEVIS record to another SEVP-certified school during or at the completion of their current degree program or period of approved Post-OPT/STEM Extension/Academic Training at Northeastern. Please read the information below carefully to review the process and determine your eligibility.

WHAT IS A SEVIS TRANSFER?

A SEVIS transfer is the process of moving your SEVIS record from your current school (Northeastern) to another SEVP-certified school in the U.S. after you've received an offer of admission.

If you are an F-1 or J-1 student who is leaving or completing your current degree program or ending a period of approved Post-OPT/STEM OPT/AT, you may be eligible to request a SEVIS transfer. Please review eligibility requirements and the process to request a SEVIS transfer on this page.

F-1 TRANSFER ELIGIBILITY

- Continuously maintain your F-1 student status
- Gain admission to an SEVP-Certified Institution in the U.S. that begins no more than 5 months after your last date of enrollment at Northeastern/your last day of Post-OPT/STEM OPT
- Request a SEVIS transfer before the conclusion of your grace period if you have already completed your academic program
    - If you request a SEVIS transfer without completing a program of study at Northeastern, OGS must receive your SEVIS transfer request prior to your withdrawal from the University
    - If you request a SEVIS transfer in the middle of an academic term you must maintain F-1 student status with full-time enrollment and on-ground presence until your SEVIS record has been transferred out

Note for New Students in Initial Status: If you are a new student in Initial SEVIS status and you wish to request a SEVIS transfer to a different SEVP-certified institution, your new program start date must be within 30-days of your arrival to the U.S.*

Note for Current Students: You may not work at Northeastern University or any of its campuses on or after the SEVIS release date.*

Note for Alumni on OPT/STEM OPT: Your employment authorization will be terminated as of your SEVIS release date. You must immediately stop working.*

2. Complete Transfer-In Requirements for Your New School

   Your new school will inform you of their requirements to transfer-in your SEVIS record. This may include filling out a transfer-in form and an I-20 request process.

   If your new school is requesting the name and contact information of a DSO at your current school (Northeastern), you can provide them with the following information:

   DSO Name: Please provide the name of the DSO listed on Page 1 of your most recently issued I-20. You can find this in the "School Attestation" section.

   DSO Contact Information: ogs.newstudent@northeastern.edu, (617) 373-2310

3. Wait for your transfer out request to be processed by a DSO in OGS

J-1 TRANSFER ELIGIBILITY

The purpose of a J-1 transfer must be to complete the original educational objective for which you first came to the U.S. as a J-1 Exchange Visitor. If you are making a change to your field of study, you are not eligible for a J-1 transfer.

- Continuously maintain your J-1 student status

- Have an Active SEVIS record
- Gain admission to an SEVP-Certified Institution in the U.S
- Maintain the same educational objective and J-1 category at the new institution
    - For example, if you are a degree-seeking student in Engineering at Northeastern, you would only be eligible to transfer to another institution to continue pursuing a degree in Engineering.
- The transfer must not extend your stay beyond the maximum program length for your J-1 category
    - Non-degree student category: 2 year maximum program duration
    - Degree student category: length of academic program plus any academic training
